Fiberglass Entry & Patio Doors

Looks good on the outside, feels good on the inside!

It's the first patented fiberglass door to deliver the look and feel of real wood and is a durable alternative to wood or steel for your entry or patio door. It won't rot, crack, split, or warp as often found with wooden doors, and resists dents, scratches and rust, often found with steel doors.

Therma-Tru fiberglass entry doors are priced more competitively compared to premium wood doors. It's easy to add your own custom touch with their wide range of panel sides, handcrafted glass, sidelites and transoms. Best of all, quality materials and precision engineering make Therma-Tru door systems strong, providing more long-lasting performance. So while you give your home long-lasting curb appeal, you'll also receive superb safety and weather-resistant performance year after year.

When you purchase a Therma-Tru entry or patio door from Town & Country, you can rest assured knowing that you've purchased a high quality, beautiful product that has been built to last.

See for yourself. Therma-Tru is the most preferred brand in the industry and they produce a higher quality and better performing product than the competition.
